JOB WORK OF ALL KINDS

Executed to order, neatly, and on reasonable terms.

It is intended to make the SHELBY SENTINEL a first-class Family Newspaper, Democratic in politics, devoted to General News, Literature, and Morality. To sustain a paper, we naturally expect the assistance and co-operation of the people of Shelby and adjoining counties. While the local interest of this section will not be neglected, we will aim to advance the general prosperity of the State. The general interests and welfare of this section can in no better way be advanced than through the medium of a newspaper.

Devoting our attention to all topics of the day, we will freely and independently discuss them. A cordial support will be given to Democratic and Conservative principles, in opposition to the revolutionary measures of Radicalism. Believing that this is the only course which will result in permanent prosperity to the country and that these views are such as the people of Kentucky naturally and heartily endorse, we shall uphold and defend them at all times. Firm in the opinion that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a liberal patronage.

Correspondence upon all subjects is respectfully invited. All communications must be accompanied by the name of the writer, not for publication, unless desired, but as a guarantee of good faith and responsibility. Communications to insure favorable attention should be sent to the point, and plainly written upon but one side of the paper.

Rejected communications cannot be returned. Obituary Notices, Tributes of Respect, etc., will be charged 50 cents for each line—the money to accompany the manuscript.

Parish orders as to advertise for them in other papers must advance the amount requisite to pay for such advertisement. Advertisements under the "Special Notice" head will be charged 50 per cent. additional to the above rates. All transient advertisements, and all advertisements from a distance, will be charged 25 per cent. more. Yearly advertisements have the privilege of altering their advertisements quarterly. More frequent changes must be contracted for, otherwise they will be charged 20 cents per square for each change. Collection will be made quarterly.

Selected PoetryDARLING, TELL ME YES.

BY JOHN G. SAGE.

One little moment more, Maud,

One little moment more;

I have a word to speak, Maud,

I never breathe before.

What can it be but love, Maud?

And do I lightly guess?

Tis pleasant to your ear, Maud?

O, darling, tell me yes.

The burden of my heart, Maud,

And did I tell you yes?

There's little need to say, Maud,

I've loved you long and well.

There's language in sighs, Maud,

One's meaning to express;

And yours to me for me, Maud?

O, darling, tell me yes.

My eyes have told my love, Maud,

And on my burning cheek

You've read the tender thought, Maud;

My lips refused to speak

I gave you all my heart, Maud,

Till need to confess;

And did I tell you yes, Maud?

O, darling, tell me yes.

Tis sad to stray a love, Maud,

So worthless and true;

I know a little cot, Maud,

Quite large enough for two;

And you will be my wife, Maud,

So you may ever live,

Through all our sunny life, Maud,

The day you answered yes.

A Beautiful Story.

It was a warm afternoon; a lazy breeze stole through the windows of a little hot district school house, lifting the white curtains, and rustling the leaves of the copy-books that lay open on all the desks. Thirty or forty scholars of all ages were bending over their writing, quiet and busy; the master, as he passed among the writers, was the only sound. But, though silent, this little light, hot school room has its heroes and heroines as certainly as the wider sphere of life.

The bell rings for the writing to be laid by; and now comes the last exercise of the day, the spelling, in which nearly all the school joined. At the head of the class is a delicate little girl in a blue dress, whose bright eyes and attentive air show that she prizes her place and means to keep it.

Presently a word, which had passed all the lower end of the class came to Eunice.

The word was privilege. "P-r-i-v-i-l-e-g-e," privi—l-e-g-e, privilege," spelt Eunice.

But the teacher, vexed with the mistakes of the other end of the class, misunderstood her and passed it. The little girl looked amazed; the bright color came into her cheeks, and she listened eagerly to the next person, who spelled it again as she had done.

"Right," said the teacher; "take your place."

"I spelt it so," whispered Eunice to herself, the tears springing to her eyes as she passed down. But, too late to speak to the master, who remained in her place, inwardly determining soon to get up again.

But her trials were not yet over.

Many expedients had been tried in the school to keep out the arch enemy of all teachers—whisper. At length the following plan was adopted: The first whisperer was stood upon the floor in front of the teacher's desk. Here he acted as a monitor; as soon as he detected another he took his seat, and the next offender kept sharp lookout to find some one to take his place; for at the close of the school, the scholar who had the whisperer's place was punished very severely—"a furling!" This plan appeared to operate very well; every one deared being found last on the floor, and though it secured an orderly school, many of the parents and scholars doubted its justice.

The boy who was on the floor when Eunice lost her place was an unruly, surly fellow, who had smarted for his faults of before; and as school drew near its close he began to tremble. The instanc-Eunice's whispered complaints reached his ear his face brightened up; he was safe now. And when the class was dismissed he said, "Eunice whispered, sir."

Eunice rose, and in a trembling voice related what she had said; but the teacher saw no excuse in it, and she was called to take the place of the ungenerous boy who had told of her.

Books had been put away, and the waiting school looked on in sorrowfulness as Eunice left her seat to take the dreadful punishment. She was one of the best scholars—bright, cheerful, sweet tempered, and a general favorite. Every one felt that it was unjust; and many angry glances were cast at the boy who was mean enough to get a little girl whipped. Overcome with fear and shame, she stood by the side of the desk, crying bitterly, while the teacher was preparing to inflict the punishment.

At this moment a tall boy stepped out of his seat, and going to the desk, said:

"Are you going to whip Eunice, sir?"

"Yes, I never break my rules," said the teacher answered.

"We will not see her whipped!" said the boy in an excited voice; "There is not a boy here, except that one, that would see her whipped! Whip me, sir, and keep your rules, if you must; but don't touch

this little girl!"

The master paused; the school looked on fearfully.

"Do you mean to say you will take her

"You are the man to pull my teeth," is invariably their remark on leaving his office.
THE HISTORY OF MORGAN'S CAVALRY.—This work written by Col. Basil Duke is out, and is having a rapid sale. The day held sacred to St. Valentine approaches, and that it may be fitly observed, Hastings & Hollenbach have brought to Shelbyville one of the largest, handsomest, and most exquisite variety of Valentines that has ever been seen in our midst. The cheap and droll, comic burlesque up to the costly, elegant and finished Valentine, embracing a wonderful variety, all can be seen at the establishment of H. & H.
We refer our readers to the law card of Jackson and Harrington of Louisville. Our friend J. D. Harrington has formed a co-partnership with Gen. W. L. Jackson, of Virginia, a confederate general, and an eminent and honored citizen of the old Dominion. Gen. Jackson was Lieutenant Governor of Virginia under Henry A. Wise, and has been honored in many ways by the State of his nativity. As one of the ablest criminal lawyers in the State, he has had a large, and constantly increasing practice. We congratulate our talented young friend upon his association in business with such an able and eminent lawyer. We recommend the firm to our friends.

PANORAMA.—Josiah Bliss, Sunday School Missionary gave one of his exhibitions at the Court-house last night. The scenes illustrated the progress of vice, in opposition to the better way, the way of morality and holiness. The impression made upon the minds and hearts of the large number of children present, we are persuaded will be lasting. Mr. Bliss presented the subject of a Monument to the memory of Rev. W. S. Sedgwick, who died in the Sunday School cause. It is proposed to receive from each child ten cents. We know the appeal will meet with a hearty response from the children who loved the devoted and self-sacrificing Sunday School Missionary, W. S. Sedgwick. Mr. Bliss will give an exhibition in the Representative Hall at Frankfort, on next Friday evening.
Reported for the Shelby Sentinel.
